A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

The Marriage of James A. White, o Palaski, and Mary Wise Gallaway, of Memphis.

The matrimonial reporter of the Appeal, being a cynical old bachelor, feels that he is inadequate to the task of reporting the paraphernalia of the brilliant and fashionable wedding which occurred last evening at the Court street Cumberland Presbyterian church. The bride, while refugeeing last summer, made the acquaintance of James A. White, of Pulaski, Tennessee. Love at first sight was fully illustrated in their courtship and marriage. The cards were issued a week ago, and were lithographed for the occas by that superior publishing company, S. C. Toof & Co., and even members of congress have written letters complimenting the beauty of the cards of invitation, which were as follows:

Colonel and Mrs. M. C. Gallaway,

Pulaski, Tenn.

The high social position of the relative and friends of the happy pair brought to-gether an impressive assemblage of distin-guished citizens to witness the ceremony. A large crowd had assembled before the church by the time the doors of the church were opened. About seven and a-half o'clock the carriages began to arrive, and up to eight o'clock there was a continuous stream of guests, who were met at the door by the ushers, four in number, and were as follows: the maximum limit, hardly ever reached, and and as it emerged from a long line of car-

The following notes accompanied beautiful bouquets—floral gifts to the bride.

My Dear Young Friend—Please accept these frail, emblematic flowers as a token of my remembrance of you in this hour of your heart's fulfillment of "love's young dream," and with them the heartfelt wish that the brightest and sweetest flowers of Joy and happiness may bloom in the garden of your wedded destiny, as they have made fragrant and beautiful hitherto your happy girlhood home. Present my kindest regards to him who ought to be, if he is not, the happiest man in Memphis. I hope to have the pleasure of meeting him some time, to tender in person my congratulations. P. S .- The above report does not include the cost of quarantine should it at any time become necessary. M. BURKE, Chairman. On motion, the report was received and viz: that of the committee on rules, regulations and memorials. They were as follows: The committee on rules, regulations and emorials, beg respectfully to submit the ollowing for the consideration of the Memphis auxiliary sanitary association: 1. They find that the powers of the asociation are derived from the joint action of the cotton exchange and chamber of com-merce, ratified by a mass-meeting of the citizens of Memphis, May 23, 1879, and that the report made to that mass-meeting by the committee, of which Dr. R. W. Mitchell was chairman, must be accepted as the organic law of the association as long as it continues to perform the functions of an organized oody without charter authority. 2. They find it expedient not to elaborate ales and by-laws during the inchoate condiion of the association, and recommend the ollowing temporary rules for its government,
